IFFD AT THE UNITED NATIONS, NEW YORK

Liliana Alessandri with a Nigerian group at the UN New York

IFFD participated in two conferences in the winter of 2008: Commission for Social Development and Commission on the Status of Women.

In both conferences there was an opportunity to talk with delegates of many countries, explain what IFFD is, and emphasize the need to incorporate the family perspective into their documents. Also underlined the importance of partnership between the UN and the Family, in order to support this institution and thus the wellbeing of the whole society.

FAMILY ALBUM

10 Decisive snapshots

5 EXTENDED FAMILY AND FRIENDS

The extended family circle. A family realizes its full potential when it knows how to maintain ties of affection and bonding with the extended family made up of grandparents, uncles and aunts, cousins, etc. and other families. These ties become a source of joy, of support in everyday life and of invaluable assistance in times of difficulty.

4 TRANSCENDENCE AND PURPOSE

Around the world's borders, the most The family finds its true purpose and transcends itself when it welcomes a new life in its midst. The family must remain healthy for the fundamental reason that gives meaning to its existence. Their faith and hope in a God whom they honor and who blesses them strengthens families of believers.
